This lectureship will focus on the mentoring opportunities for minority nurse leaders to guide future minority nurse educators in their career. It will also review the significance of increasing the number and diversity of nurses, nurse leaders, and educators to meet the changing demographic landscape of America. Best practices of teaching minority students and the accomplishments of the second phase of the Online Minority Nurse Educator Program will be reviewed.

This lectureship is designed for registered nurses, nursing students, nurse educators, and healthcare and human service providers.

Free parking is available at the New Jersey Hospital Association, located at 760 Alexander Road in Princeton, N.J. (609) 275-4140
